ared to him that he had frequently seen te creek bed perfectly dry during the immer drouths.

This suggests a number of disagreeable ssibilities. No matter how large a water apply could be kept in a reservoir on top the hill, nor how profuse a quantity of oring or well water could be secured for inking or cooking purposes, there would the water to carry off the sewage from Grave Danger of Infectious Disease. It would simply be carried from the buildg to the creek bed and lie there and acimulate until the rain came to carry it away. ere would be danger of disease to the innies of the institution as well as to the pulated districts through which the creek terward passes. These arguments are used ainst the Neeld property by various peras who have given the matter attention, id who assert that, above all things, the anger of water shortage should be avoided. There are others who think that a farm onling on one of the big rivers should be lected. Among these are Dr. Evans and obert MacGonigle. In discussing the ross offered, the Tomhuson property in him township, on the A. V. R. R., comes if or consideration. It has 217 acres, 10 the authority rearranged his left eyebrow in es of nice frontage and the balance on a a strictly correct manner. appratively level stretch overlooking the theny river from a blaff 100 feet higher an the ratio ad. The party of Councilcased with the property, but said it was at of the question on account of its inac-scibility, the only way of reaching it at resent being a long road running entirely the rear of it and coming back by a radual grade.

Mr. MacGonigle Overcomes Obstacles. Mr. MacGonigle, however, declares that good road could be built along the face of to bluff for less than $1,000, bringing the n of the hill within a six or eight minute alk of the railroad. The farm is said to e in good condition, well cultivated and ld make a site much superior to the one n Chartiers creek, at $20 less per acre, the rice asked by Tomlinson being only $230, his would make a difference in cost of 4 340 in favor of the Tomlinson farm, and ould allow that much money for use in aking it accessible to the river and rail-

"I would much prefer to see the city buy leng the river and on the main line of a allroad," said Mr. Macgonigle. "This milinson farm would fill all requirements good road were built up to it, and a contitul supply of good water for all pur-oses would be assured at all seasons of the car. The Neeld farm is a pretty one and anid be made highly productive, but the toation does not meet my ideas and, mark words, those who live long enough will e 115 jurchase regretted."

Varden Hagne's Big Catch of Trout i the Proposed Game Preserve-Thirty Miles of Good Fishing Streams-A Place to Bag Wildcats.

Pish Warden John W. Hague and State emithologist Dr. B. H. Warner, of West ster, returned yesterday from the prosed new fish and game preserve in Cleareld county. They paint glowing pictures f this new home for sportsmen. This tract as 13,000 acres, and was offered to a numer of Pittsburg sportsmen last winter. Mr. large went there to investigate the place. ie says: "There are 30 miles of trou creams in the tract, and with very little xpense they could be increased to 100 illes. It is the best trout fishing I ever ad. I caught 260 very fine fish, many ensuring 12 inches in length. I saw one there that would measure 18 inches. The air is good and there are few mosquioes. Besides the fish there are lots of unil, pheasants, rabbits, squirrels and some eer and bear. Occasionally a wildcat is illed up there, and there are a few welves. here is one place where, by building a mall dam, we could make an artificial take overing 100 acres. Below the valley is vide, and there are no towns within 12 100 acres. Below the valley is les, so there would be no danger of loss life in case the dam broke. It would ake a finer resort than South Fork.' Warden Hague then went to visit C. K.

The Future of Natural Gas. The Foure of Natural Gas.

Natural gas is a subject that always interests those using this most valued fuel. The matement published in the newspapers in he last few days to the effect that a new hild had been discovered within a few niles from the city, and that the supply would be sufficient for our wants for several rears to come, means good news for every jours cepter. But every consumer should ake engush interest in the subject to study to economic use, not only for their own penefit, but to save it, so that we may enjoy the pleasure of having it for domestic purconcil, but to save it, so that we may enjoy

"One of the hardest things importers and wholesalers have to contend with," he continued, "is the introduction of a new style. The people see the new wearing appared exhibited in shop windows, and they pass them by and purchase that which has become accustomed to their sight. I am speaking of the average man, of course, and not of the extremist, the latter being invariably in a small minority. The people want to see someone else make the first step, and then by degrees the others accept it. That is the reason the farm where there was never less than ght feet of water. There was a farmer in the Captain's audience who later took a ember of the party to one side and deared to him that he had frequently seen are done at the same garb displayed by shopmen.

The two men in the carriage drove up to his door. The of the same garb displayed by shopmen incites the citizen to follow in the wake and gradually the style is introduced. Realizing this important feature, the importer in-variably has his traveling salesmen dressed in the latest garb both of his own produc-tion as well as that of others, and the result is not so difficult to foresee.

"While it is hard to introduce a style for men it is not a circumstance when compared with the difficulties attached to the introduction of female attire as ladies are much harder to get at than men and all they have to go upon is their fashion plates and fashion notes. It takes a style about two years to travel from the laud of its inception throughout Europe and America. As a general thing the styles are conceived in Paris. It takes it about three months to become popular in the French capital. Three months later it reaches London, another four months to reach New York. Three months later it appears in Boston and Philadelphia. Within the next six months it appears in Chicago and from there on it disperses toward all of the smaller cities in greater or less extent of time, and by the time it is accepted throughout the nation the Parisians have discarded it, and are becoming accus-

Ira Holderreed has been arrested at the nstigation of H. L. McGaw, of the West End Record, on a charge of larceny. He was a compositor on the Record, but was discharged some time ago. Shortly afterward many articles were found to be missing from the printing office. Suspicion rested upon Holderreed, and a box which he had sent to the Panhandle station was seized and examined. The missing articles were found therein, and as a result a warrant was issued for his arrest. He was bound over for a hearing next Saturday under $300 bail, Allegheny School Children's Jubilee, The close of the year's work of the Alle gheny schools will be observed in Allegheny Parks next Thursday, when the annual jubilee will be held. Twenty thousand spectators are expected to be present, half of whom will be children. All the wards except the Seventh, Ninth, Eleventh, Twelfth and Thirteenth will picnic in the different parks. The children will leave the buildings at 3 o'clock and the jubilee will close at 7 o'clock. The Haves Post Band will furnish the music and give a free concert in the evening.

Ladies Demand the Proof.

Saved From Total Blindness.

Saved From Total Blindness.

The expert surgeon has no greater satisfaction than in being able to save a suffering fellow mortal from loss of vision. Dr. Sadler, of 804 Penn avenue, had an experience of this kind yesterday. A lady patron of his, Mrs. Henry Lockhart, residing in Albuquerque, N. M., brought her son to the doctor, suffering from serious affection of both eyes. She had made professional acquaintance with the doctor years ago while sue lived in this State, he having cured her daughter of a dangerous saliment by the eyes. This mother and son showed faith in the doctor's skill by traveling 2,000 miles to secure his services. One eye could not be saved, but the other was treated with entire success, and the lad rejoices in the ability to read and write.
